January 25, 2012

Our family has enjoyed living in Howard for 14 years. Our youngest daughter, Kira, (5 years old) was diagnosed 3 years ago with Rett syndrome. Rett syndrome is a neurodevelopmental disorder affecting mostly girls. They are born and develop typically until about 12-18 months, when they go through a regression. At this point they lose their ability to walk, talk and many will develop seizures, breathing abnormalities, feeding and swallowing difficulties, as well as scoliosis. Scientists have reversed the symptoms in a mouse model.

I am the Wisconsin Representative for the International Rett Syndrome Foundation (www.rettsyndrome.org) and am in the process of planning our first Wisconsin Stroll A Thon, a walk to raise money for research. I would like to host this event at Meadowbrook Park. We intend to walk through the paved path and up to Glendale, back around to the park. This is an ideal location because of the paved path for the wheelchairs and the accessibility of the new shelter. We would also have water and food, possibly booyah, for the families at the shelter.

Thank you for your consideration in this request for the use of Meadowbrook Park on Saturday, September 29, 2012.

If you have any questions, I can be reached at 662-1627.

Sincerely,
